BOEING REPRESENTATIVE SPEAKS ON SST AT MAE SEMINAR

Mr. George Kirsch, representing the Boeing Company, spoke here Tuesday, March 16, on the topic "What About the SST?" A test pilot with experience flying over 80 types of planes, Mr. Kirsch presented a decidedly favorable picture of the aircraft.

"There will be an SST," read Mr. Kirsch from one of the slides which accompanied his talk and were provided by Boeing (which is incidentally the largest single contractor for the plane). He then went on to say that the United States should have its own SST and not have to buy a Russian TU-144 or a British-French Concorde.

Mr. Kirsch then read the statistics on the slide screen about the financial and technological advantages of U.S. produced craft. He countered the anti-SST forces' allegations of environmental damage caused by the plane with the statement (which was also from the slides), "The aircraft industry has led in the reduction of pollutants." He then cited statistics revealing the environmentally harmless nature of America's potential SST.

A question and answer session followed the presentation. When asked by a student to validate his statistics on the environmental harmlessness of the SST, Mr. Kirsch replied that we would "just have to take (his) word for it."

SST POLL

1. When discussing the cost of the SST, the usual cost overruns were not mentioned by the Boeing representative. Do you believe this was ethical?

(Circle One)
Yes No

2. Do you believe that the SST will not harm our environment?

Yes No

3. When asked to validate his statistics on the environmental harmlessness of the SST, Boeing's representative told us we would have to take his word for it. Considering the importance of the topic, do you believe this was a reasonable request?

Yes No
4. Do you believe that Boeing would sacrifice monetary gain rather than risk the chance of damaging this country, if there were any doubts about the SST?

Yes No
5. Do you believe in the tooth fairy?

PAPER RECHRISTENED

After careful consideration and much reflection, the school newspaper of Rose-Hulman Institute of Technology has been renamed THE THORN. The editors would like to thank the many persons who took the time and interest to submit their choices for a new name, and it is distressing to us that we couldn't use all four of them. However much we liked the names WEEKLY BLAH and ROSE BLIGHT, we were sure, somehow, that a more appropriate name was lurking just beyond the typewriter (although on several occasions the two previous mentioned runners-up were close to making it onto the masthead). THE THORN, which by definition is sharp-pointed and found on "any of a genus of the Rose family," seemed most fitting and proper. With the changing of the name, the format was also changed (which is obvious) to this present expanded size.

Item: I could not help noticing that there was one varsity sport overlooked on the recent handout regarding upcoming matches. Intentional or not, the Rifle Teams' schedule was omitted. As a matter of fact, the team shoots against the University of Wisconsin at Wisconsin Saturday. More on this next week.

Item: I wonder if Jim knows what he's letting himself in for. It's a thankless job—just ask old what's-his-name.

To Whom It May Concern: It would appear that the vocal minorities on this Campus are affecting the overall policies of the Institute to a great extent. Perhaps too greatly.

Item: I know of a professor here that once subscribed to the theory of male superiority — but then he got married, and his new wife canceled his subscription.

Item: A couple of weeks ago, person or persons unknown slipped some acid (LSD for you straights) into the punch at the ISU Hopper Show. At least 20 students tripped—15 of those in the hospital. It could only happen around ISU, right?

Wrong. The precedent for this little gag was set nearly 50 years ago at Rose! Two students dumped Croton Oil into the punch served at a dance held here on campus. (For all you city folk, Croton Oil is a drastic and rather violent purgative when taken internally by humans.) According to a very reliable source, "Every ambulance in Terre Haute, Brazil and surrounding communities were pressed into use that night. It was a terrible prank and caused quite a lot of suffering and embarrass-

R-H Senior Receives Fellowship

The Army has recently announced the awarding of 40 fellowships for graduate study to outstanding ROTC graduates throughout the nation. Rose-Hulman senior, Loren C. Doyle, has been selected as one of the 40 students for the program.

The fellowship, limited to two years of graduate study, will enable Loren to pursue a master's degree in a field related to a chosen Army career.

In addition to the fellowship, worth $20,000 to $25,000, Loren will receive full military pay and allowances while attending graduate school. He has the option of attending graduate school immediately after graduation from Rose-Hulman and prior to the start of active duty, or at any time up to five years after entry on active duty.

The winners were selected on the basis of a comprehensive graduate record examination and ranked in the top five per cent of ROTC cadets eligible.

STATEMENT OF POSITION

In taking on the positions of editors of this paper, we feel that there are some basic areas which we feel need to be emphasized more than in the past: news events of both a local and national level which concern engineering students and items which tend to provoke potential engineers into more thought concerning their role in society. We feel that those persons involved in technology have a great responsibility to society to see that technology is not misused. One of the most efficient managers of technology in this century, Albert Speer, commented on the dangers of those "dazzled by the possibilities of technology" in his book Inside the Third Reich and who do not exert a controlling influence on how their technology is used:

"The nightmare shared by many people," I said, "that someday the notions of the world may be dominated by technology—that nightmare was very nearly made a reality under Hitler's authoritarian system. Every country in the world today faces the danger of being terrorized by technology; but in a modern dictatorship this seems to me to be unavoidable. Therefore, the more technological the world becomes, the more essential will be the demand for individual freedom and self-awareness of the individual human being as a counterpoise to technology."

We will be presenting material, in our own way, which we hope will produce questions in the minds of those in this school and how they relate to technology and the process of getting an "engineering education."

MORGANMASONDOWNS RETURN

After the group, Morganmason-downs, left Rose-Hulman in February, a number of people came to me and told me how much they had enjoyed them. Many wanted to know if we could have them back again. Well you're in luck, especially those who were so unfortunate as to not have heard them the last time they were here. Joe, Cass and Steve will be back on campus on Sunday, April 4. There will be only two shows in the form of a concert on April 4 at 9:00 p.m. The concert will be in the Main Dining Room of the Hulman Union. Admission is $1.00. Tickets can be obtained in the Student Government Office or at the door.

For many, this may be the last chance for a long while to see Morganmasondowns as they plan to restrict their work to the New York area for awhile. If you enjoy good music, make sure to attend the Morganmasondowns Concert in the Union on April 4 at 9:00 p.m.

This concert is being co-sponsored by "The Mind Garden" and the SGA Activities Board.

2) Explain (in 25 words or less) why helicopter and airplane crews are not considered "troops."

3) Explain the use of the word "tactical" in "tactical air support."

by Doug Zapp

With the return of 13 lettermen, baseball coach Jerry Anderson is very optimistic about the team's chances for another NAIA post season tournament bid. Last year the squad compiled a season record of 11-5, the first winning season for a Rose baseball team in over a decade, and consequently received the school's first bid to the NAIA district tournament.

Among the returning lettermen are: Infielders Buck Beranek, Tom Butwin, Rick Henthorn, Sherley Sample and Chuck Stein; outfielders Clancy Duttlinger, Larry Geier, Doug Kneller, Kevin Murphy and Jeff Witten; Catcher Jerry Bissey and Pitchers Rick Manuszak and Doug Zapp. Sophomore pitchers Joe Bubenzer and Larry Erwin have looked good in early workouts, and are strong candidates to make the final cut. Rounding out the team's roster are four freshmen. They include Clayton Black, first baseman; John Kelm, outfielder; Steve Moorman, first baseman, and Curt Vapor, pitcher.

Coach Anderson was worried about the team's depth on the mound this year, but the pitching staff has looked impressive in early practices. Depth in the field is one of the baseballers strong assets. There is a returning letterman at every position, as only two seniors were lost from last year. This season should be exciting but tougher. This year's schedule will be rough, but everybody on the team is looking forward to April 3rd, when Hanover comes to Terre Haute for the season opener.

TENNIS NEWS

As the chill of winter abates and the air becomes filled with the promise of spring, this year's tennis team is anxiously looking forward to the delights of the coming season. Unfortunately, the perennial conflict over court space during Varsity hours has developed between the tennis team and every fair-weather afternoon tennis player living on campus. To those who feel unduly put-upon may I point out that improvements made to the courts are paid for out of the team budget—not out of any campus restoration fund. For example, four new nets valued at about $250 will shortly be installed courtesy of the tennis team. Incidentally, the budget of the tennis team as well as those of other spring sports is minimal.

Few athletic facilities are used as widely in the spring as the campus tennis courts. A quick inspection of them will reveal their decrepit condition. Also, it is becoming increasingly apparent that the number of courts is hardly adequate to service the increasing enrollment. To those who content themselves by apathetically sitting back and grumbling among themselves about the tennis facilities may I point out that they have only themselves to blame for their dissatisfaction. The school can ill afford to cater to each wish of the student body, but one can not deny that priorities are often determined by pressure and petition. In

POSSIBLE ROSE WRESTLING

Just this past week, a proposal has been submitted to Dr. Logan, stating the possibility of starting a wrestling program during the month of April. For many years petitions have been filed by interested students to begin such a program. However, all of them have been nullified, due—mainly—to the lack of organization and the funds to purchase a new wrestling mat.

Therefore, an organization meeting was held during the month of January and a working committee was set up. Also, the excellent attendance at the meeting helped to encourage the students on this committee. Instead of purchasing a new wrestling mat, it was decided to rent one from a NEIGHBORING college—or high school. Fortunately Marshall High, Marshall, Illinois, is willing to rent their mats for a nominal fee of fifty-cents-a-day. Also, Mr. Richard Comer, an assistant football coach during the fall and a prominent businessman in town, has agreed to supervise the program during its time period.

The only problem at this point in the campaign is determining where the mats should be located. However, with a few concessions from a couple members of the administration, this problem should not hinder the program for a long period of time. Therefore, Rose-Hulman could possibly have its first wrestling program in progress during the month of April with a tentative tournament planned for the last week of that month. If anyone has a question concerning the program, please contact Norm Klein, Box 408-2.
